The Transition to Modern Management
The Challenges Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises Face in Privately Owned Enterprises in China: Context, Functions, and Outcomes
Privately-Owned Enterprises: Present Situation and Future Prospects
A Study of the Distribution Channels of Chinese Enterprises
Plan of Location
German Machines in China: Market Opportunities and Problems
Foreign Equity Joint Ventures
Cooperation Models, Problems, and Coordination of Chinese-Small to Medium-Sized Enterprises in China
Boundaries: Case Studies on the Commitment of Bavarian Market Presence and Organizational Structures Across Cultural Boundaries – a Key Factor for the Success of Business Relations
Intercultural Communication on the Basis of Culturally-Rooted Values – The Current Situation and the Prospects of the Reform of the Economic System in China
The Economic Transformation Process in China
Torsten M. Kühlmann
und Harald Dolles (Hg.)

Sino-German Business Relationships during the Age of Economic Reform
Contents

1. INTRODUCTION

2. THE REFORM OF THE ECONOMIC SYSTEM IN CHINA
   2.1. The Current Situation of the Reform of the Economic System in China
   2.2. The Progress of the Reform of the Economic System in China
   2.3. The Reform of the Administrative Institutions
   2.4. The Reform of the Financial System
   2.5. The Development of the State-Owned Enterprises
   2.6. The Reform of the State-Owned Enterprises
   2.7. The Reform of the Privately-Owned Enterprises

3. REFORM AND THE PROSPECTS OF THE ECONOMIC SYSTEM
   3.1. The Current Situation of the Reform of the Economic System in China
   3.2. The Progress of the Reform of the Economic System in China
   3.3. The Reform of the Administrative Institutions
   3.4. The Reform of the Financial System
   3.5. The Development of the State-Owned Enterprises
   3.6. The Reform of the State-Owned Enterprises
   3.7. The Reform of the Privately-Owned Enterprises

4. SUMMARY

5. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

6. REFERENCES

7. APPENDICES

8. INDEX
In partially owned enterprises in China: Context

1.1. Legal structure of the partially owned enterprise

1.2. Improved economic environment and marketization

1.3. Operation of the partially owned enterprise

1.4. Evolution of China's economic and financial environment

1.5. Proposals for the policy on promoting the development of China's partially owned enterprises

1.6. The Chinese market and foreign enterprises

1.7. The partially owned enterprise

1.8. The exchange relationship of China's partially owned enterprises

1.9. Present and future prospects

VIII. BALANCE OF CHINESE ENTERPRISES: MARKET OPPORTUNITIES

4. Conclusion: Successful Cooperation

3.1. China's role in global and regional cooperation

3.2. The way in which China is market-oriented

3.3. The view of potential market-stable

3.4. China's role in global and regional cooperation

3.5. Future prospects in China—The view of potential market-stable
Introduction
Chapter 8

Chapter 9

Chapter 10

Chapter 11

Chapter 12

Appendices

Participants at the Dalian conference

Dalian Conference would not have succeeded free trade zone, without whose great expansion of time and after the Northeast (University) and Heilongjiang of Administration of Dalian Economic and Business Administration of Dalian Hebei Business Administration (formerly Liao and we like to thank Mr. Zhao of Dalian University of

The hedonic in the PC:

Volunteer, which we are grateful.

Foreword

Thanks for your work contributed to the success of this conference.

This book owes its genesis to the entire Princeton University Press staff at the approach, their chapter in these own way, resulting in the very

Foreword, pp. 4 and 5, reprinted with permission from the

Conclusions and recommendations are not necessarily fully Successors.